- Communications and stakeholder engagement
- Change management practice.

Course Overview

Our one-day Change Management Practitioner training course will teach you advanced change management strategies and be recognised as a dependable manager of organisational change.

Our Change Management Practitioner training course will build on from the knowledge learned in our three-day Change Management Foundation training course and help you to understand the practical aspects of Change Management.

Course Learning Outcomes

Our Change Management Practitioner training course will equip you with a comprehensive understanding of the challenges of Change Management, why change happens, how it happens and what needs to be done in order to overcome resistance to change.

Our Change Management Practitioner training course will teach you:

- The application of appropriate process frameworks to optimally plan and understand organisational change.
- A range of organisation paradigms with which to understand, support, and sustain organisational change processes.
- How to properly prepare for an organisational change initiative - such as building an effective change team and offering insights that enhance the team's performance.
- How to prepare people for organisational change.
- How to be motivational in ways that are empathetic towards peoples' roles and personalities.
- How to establish a clear framework of roles, skills, and activities through which leaders can support and sustain the change process.

Audience

Our Change Management Practitioner training course is suitable for:

- Aspiring or current managers of organisational change, transition, or transformation
- Those performing key roles in the design, development, and delivery of organisational change programmes
